Description

Dive site in the southern channel of Filitheyo. Many coral boulders with large schools of fish and whitetip reef sharks. In the blue water, eagle rays and tuna are often seen. On the north side of the Farus, there are many coral boulders in shallow water (5–15 meters) with Napoleon wrasses, sea turtles, and schools of fish. In the sandy area at 15–25 meters, there are many offshore coral boulders covered in beautiful coral growth. A sloping plateau ranging from 5 to 33 meters in depth. This is where dolphins play and “groom” themselves, ridding themselves of parasites in the sand.
