Description

One of the top dive sites, located east of Mulee Island. During the season from May through December, you'll almost always encounter manta rays and mobula rays gathering at the many cleaning stations at depths of 10–15 meters. The gently sloping drop-off from 15 to 30 meters is dotted with numerous coral boulders and is home to many barracudas, Napoleon wrasses, sharks, and tuna. This site is also ideal for encounters with other large fish. With ideal current conditions, it makes for a fantastic drift dive.
